

Account & Login Issues

CUSTOMER SUPPORT KNOWLEDGE BASE
ACCOUNT, LOGIN, PASSWORD AND PROFILE ISSUES

Document Type: Customer Support Policy / FAQ

Category: Account & Login

Version: 1.

1. ACCOUNT ACCESS ISSUES

Customers may contact support when they are unable to access their account, cannot log in, or experience problems with their account.

Common customer messages include:

- I am having an account issue.
- I have a problem with my account.
- Something is wrong with my account.
- I cannot access my account.
- I cannot get into my account.
- My account is not working.
- I am having trouble with my account.
- I need help with my account.
- I cannot use my account.
- My account is blocked.
- My account is locked.
- I cannot access my profile.

Support Guidance:

First identify the specific account problem. Ask the customer to describe what happens when they try to access or use the account.

Do not ask the customer to provide their password.

If the customer cannot log in, follow the login troubleshooting procedure below.

2. LOGIN ISSUES

Customers may report that they cannot log in even when they believe their account credentials are correct.

Common customer messages include:

- I cannot log in.
- I can't login.
- I can't sign in.
- I cannot sign in to my account.
- Login is not working.
- The login page is not working.
- My login is failing.
- I keep getting an error when I log in.
- I cannot access my account.
- I am unable to sign in.
- The system won't let me log in.
- Why can't I log into my account?

Support Guidance:

Ask the customer to confirm the email address associated with the account.

Ask what error message appears during login, if any.

The customer should never provide their password to support.

If the issue appears to be related to a forgotten password, direct the customer to the password reset procedure.

3. FORGOTTEN PASSWORD

Customers who forget their password should use the password reset process.

Common customer messages include:

- I forgot my password.
- I don't remember my password.
- I lost my password.
- How do I reset my password?
- I need to change my password.
- I cannot remember my login password.
- I need a new password.
- My password isn't working.
- I entered my password but it doesn't work.

Support Guidance:

Ask the customer to use the "Forgot Password" or "Reset Password" option on the login page.

A password reset link should be sent to the registered email address when the account is eligible for password recovery.

Never ask the customer to send their current password to support.

If the customer does not receive the reset email, ask them to check their spam or junk folder and verify that they are using the email address registered to the account.

4. ACCOUNT LOCKED

An account may become temporarily locked after repeated unsuccessful login attempts or other security-related activity.

Common customer messages include:

- My account is locked.
- I am locked out of my account.
- Why is my account locked?
- I entered the wrong password too many times.
- I cannot access my account because it is locked.
- My account has been blocked.
- I have been locked out.

Support Guidance:

Do not ask the customer to repeatedly attempt login.

Verify the registered email address.

Follow the account recovery or unlock procedure available to support.

If identity verification is required, complete the approved verification process before making account changes.

Never request or store the customer's password.

5. EMAIL OR USERNAME ISSUES

Customers may be unable to access an account because they are using an incorrect email address or no longer have access to the registered email.

Common customer messages include:

- I forgot which email I used.
- I cannot remember my account email.
- I used the wrong email address.
- I no longer have access to my email.
- I cannot find my account.
- My email is not recognized.
- The system says my email does not exist.

Support Guidance:

Ask the customer to provide the information required by the approved account verification process.

Do not reveal private account information before verification.

If the customer no longer has access to the registered email address, follow the approved account-recovery procedure.

6. PASSWORD CHANGE

Customers who can access their account but want to change their password can use the password settings.

Common customer messages include:

- How do I change my password?
- I want to change my password.
- Where can I update my password?
- I want a new password.
- How can I update my login password?

Support Guidance:

Direct the customer to Account Settings or the Password section of their account.

The customer should create a new password that meets the application's password requirements.

Support agents must never request the customer's existing password.

7. PROFILE OR ACCOUNT INFORMATION

Customers may need help changing information associated with their account.

Common customer messages include:

- I need to update my account.
- I want to change my profile.
- How do I update my account information?
- My account information is incorrect.
- I need to change my email.

- I need to update my profile.
- My account details are wrong.

Support Guidance:

Ask the customer which account information they need to change.

For sensitive account changes, follow the required identity-verification process.

Do not change sensitive account information without completing the required verification.

8. SECURITY CONCERNS

Customers may report suspicious activity or believe that someone has accessed their account.

Common customer messages include:

- Someone accessed my account.
- I think someone hacked my account.
- I see activity I don't recognize.
- My account may have been compromised.
- Someone changed my account information.
- I don't recognize a login.
- I think someone is using my account.

Support Guidance:

Treat suspected unauthorized access as a security-related issue.

Do not ask the customer to provide their password.

Follow the approved account-security and verification procedure.

If required, advise the customer to reset their password and secure their registered email account.

9. GENERAL ACCOUNT ISSUE

If the customer says they have an account problem but does not provide enough information to determine the exact issue, classify the request as an account issue and ask a clarifying question.

Examples:

Customer:

"I am having an account issue."

Customer:

"Something is wrong with my account."

Customer:

"I need help with my account."

Customer:

"My account isn't working."

Recommended support response:

"I'd be happy to help with your account issue. Could you tell me what happens when you try to access or use your account? For example, are you having trouble logging in, resetting your password, or updating your account information?"

Do not assume the customer has a password problem unless the customer mentions a login or password issue.

10. SECURITY AND PRIVACY RULES

Support agents must never request:

- The customer's password.
- A full authentication secret.
- One-time passwords unless the approved verification workflow specifically requires it.
- Sensitive authentication information through an unsecured channel.

Use the approved identity-verification process before making sensitive account changes.

11. INTENT CLASSIFICATION EXAMPLES

Account Issue:

"I am having an account issue."
"My account isn't working."
"I need help with my account."
"Something is wrong with my account."

Login Issue:

"I cannot log in."
"I can't sign in."
"Login isn't working."
"I cannot access my account."

Password Issue:

"I forgot my password."
"I need to reset my password."
"My password doesn't work."

Account Locked:

"My account is locked."
"I am locked out."
"Why is my account blocked?"

Profile / Account Information:

"I need to change my email."
"I want to update my profile."
"My account information is incorrect."

Security Issue:

"Someone accessed my account."
"I think my account was hacked."
"I don't recognize this login."

12. SUPPORT RESPONSE PRINCIPLES

For account-related conversations:

1. Acknowledge the customer's problem.
2. Identify the specific account issue.
3. Ask only for information necessary to troubleshoot or verify the account.
4. Never ask for the customer's password.
5. Provide the appropriate account-recovery or troubleshooting step.
6. Escalate security-related cases according to the approved security procedure.
7. Do not promise an outcome that has not been verified.
8. Keep the response clear, professional, and supportive.